

2022 STEINER POETRY CAFÉ

HOSTED BY

THE KEY & THE ENGLISH FACULTY

Salman Rushdie claims that poetry's role is to "take sides, start arguments, shape the world, and stop it from going to sleep."

This year our annual Poetry Café will be once again in person and it will be hosted by the students of our literary magazine, The Key, and by the English faculty, Ryan Cameron and Carol Bärtges.

Along with reflections on the role poetry plays in the world and in a Waldorf curriculum, the evening will feature original work from students in the upper school grades as well as faculty, and our parent guest. Come join us as we share what Alice Walker calls "the wonder of where we are through poetry."
